TEAM USA

RIO 2016

My vision with the Para team was to produce a team that was invincible, ready to dominate, and absolutely awesome.

Ready to dominate means the team is totally ready to compete. They are prepared for the competition; they have planned ahead for known distractions; and they have back up plans for unforeseen obstacles.

An invincible team is a team that can handle all situations. This doesn't mean they will always win, but they are prepared and can handle anything that may come up - weather, travel difficulties, less than perfect teammates, unexpected results - with respect for everyone and grace under pressure.

Pure awesomeness is an attitude that comes from the confidence developed by being both invincible and ready to dominate. It is being proud to represent the USA, having the courage to risk, the self discipline that leads to excellence; the integrity and wisdom that come from being among the very best; and the ability to respect both teammates and competitors.

2004

In 2004, I went to the Athens Paralympic Games as the Team Leader and Assistant Coach. It was an awesome experience.

2005

2005 was the year I took over as the Head Coach. Paralympic archery was still being governed internationally by IPC and nationally by US Paralympics.

Our first event was the Texas Shootout in College Station. At the beginning of the year there were two athletes on the National team. Athletes could be added mid year as they attained the necessary score. We ended the year with six athletes.

At the USA Archery National Championships we selected the team for the World Championships in Massa Carrera, Italy. We had five athletes on the team and three staff. Jeff Fabry won the Gold Medal in the W1 category.

We were part of the first US Paralympic Military Summit.

I was named US Paralympic Coach of the Year.
